2013 ANNUAL MEETING
April 21–24
The Broadmoor
Colorado Springs, Colorado

Additional information available at cpnp.org/2013
Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Recertification and Program committees, I am happy to announce the 2013 CPNP Annual Meeting, Elevating to New Heights in Neuropsychiatric Pharmacy to be held April 21–24 in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Your planning committees have been hard at work developing a vibrant program offering cutting-edge topics in psychiatry and neurology to impact the treatment of neuropsychiatric disorders well into the future.

The Pre-Meeting Workshop on Sunday, April 21, is focused on one of the most challenging issues of our day—suicide. This half-day workshop entitled The Delicate Art of Uncovering Suicidal Ideation and Intent will help you develop the state of the art skills necessary to tackle some of the most difficult and critical tasks in suicide risk assessment. In this hands-on training, Shawn Shea, MD, will guide you in implementing an innovative interviewing strategy for eliciting suicidal ideation, behaviors, and intent—the Chronological Assessment of Suicide Events (the CASE Approach).

Continuing on to provide the first keynote of the meeting, Dr. Shea will present The Medication Interest Model (MIM): Innovative Interviewing Techniques for Improving Medication Adherence. This session presents specific interviewing techniques and strategies designed to help you to build alliances with patients. Other sessions delivered by practitioners in the field include Rewriting the Psychiatric Bible: the DSM-5 and its Implications presented by Abraham Nussbaum, MD, MTS; What Pharmacists Should Know About Newer Synthetic Drugs of Abuse presented by H. Westley Clark, MD, JD, MPH, CAS, FASAM; and Pharmacogenetics of Bipolar Disorder: Clinical Application and Drug Response presented by John Kelsoe, MD.

Concurrent programming throughout the meeting includes platform presentations and sessions on delirium, dementia, neurologic disorders, treatment of PTSD and PTSD related sleep disorders, and much more. The popular Networking Roundtables and Clinical Pearls sessions, mainstays of the Annual Meeting, provide the audience with practical tips that can be applied in everyday practice.

True to the transformation theme, the Annual Meeting closes with two sessions focused on planning for a new future. Atul Butte, MD, PhD, will present Transforming 300 Billion Points of Data into Diagnostics, Therapeutics, and New Insights into Disease, followed by a social media and technology focused session delivered by Kevin Clauson, PharmD, on Leveraging mHealth to Enhance Patient Engagement and Outcomes.

On behalf of the Board and your peers serving on the Recertification and Program committees, I invite you to attend what is sure to be a diverse and educational 2013 Annual Meeting. We hope to see you in beautiful Colorado Springs!

Jodie Malhotra, PharmD
2013 CPNP Program Chair

GOALS, PRACTICE GAPS & LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The CPNP Annual Meeting has been designed to bridge the perceived ‘practice gaps’ that exist between current knowledge and practice in a number of areas of neuropsychiatric pharmacy practice. One such gap is realized when implementing published treatment guidelines in ‘real world’ clinical settings. To bridge this information gap academic detailing combined with clinical informatics tools for provider audit and feedback can help the healthcare team improve patient outcomes and promote evidence-based care when treating patients with mental illness.

Another process, drug repositioning and repurposing, capitalizes on the fact that drugs often interact with secondary targets, producing effects that may be beneficial. These processes can assist in linking current knowledge about neuropsychiatric medications and disorders to develop new knowledge and treatments.

The CPNP Annual Meeting will also address the treatment of delirium and the use of antipsychotics in dementia. With the recent recommendations by Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) to reduce antipsychotic medication use by 15% in nursing home settings, alternative treatment options and pearls for decreasing usage of antipsychotics in the geriatric population must be explored by practitioners.

Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) is a complicated disorder with many co-occurring symptoms and sequelae. PTSD is the most common mental health diagnosis and is frequently seen in veteran populations, especially combat veterans. Content will also address the management of PTSD and the sleep disorders associated with PTSD, serving as a platform to optimize the care of patients suffering from this debilitating disorder.

Overall Learning Objectives for the Annual Meeting Include:

1. Apply the Chronological Assessment of Suicide Events (CASE) approach as a sensitive and rapid method of uncovering suicidal ideation and intent.
2. Evaluate evidence-based literature regarding treatment of opioid dependency during pregnancy with buprenorphine or methadone.
3. Evaluate the evidence supporting the use of antipsychotics as monotherapy or in combination with traditional mood stabilizers in the management of mania and depression.
4. Apply the principles of the Medication Interest Model.
5. Report the current evidence regarding the effectiveness of different medications and psychotherapies for Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD).
6. Evaluate the available literature on the pharmacologic treatment of schizoaffective disorder.
7. Describe the effects of prazosin in PTSD to clinical situations.
8. Compare the efficacy of pharmacologic treatments, cognitive behavioral therapy, and other nonpharmacologic strategies for obsessive-compulsive disorder.
9. Discuss the pharmacological and legal aspects, clinical effects, and medical management of synthetic drugs of abuse.
10. Review the changes in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders-5 (DSM-5) from the DSM-IV and the implications of these changes on research and clinical practice.
11. Explain how to manage neuroleptic malignant syndrome and serotonin toxicity.
12. Explain the clinical significance, risk factors and associated outcomes of delirium in critically ill patients.
13. Discuss the benefits and risks of deep brain stimulation for Parkinson’s disease and essential tremor.
14. Describe benefits and challenges of implementing academic detailing to promote evidence-based care in treating mental illness.
15. Outline the new CMS recommendations and discuss alternative treatment options for decreasing usage of antipsychotics in the geriatric population.
16. Assess the clinical trials of agents approved to treat movement disorders associated with Huntington’s disease.
17. Outline how publicly available molecular measurements can be used to find new uses for existing medications.
18. Discuss the potential role of social media in clinical practice.
ANNUAL MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

Pre-Meeting Workshop
The Delicate Art of Uncovering Suicidal Ideation and Intent: The Chronological Assessment of Suicide Events (CASE Approach)

Sunday, April 21, 8:00–11:45 AM

This half-day training provides psychiatric pharmacists and other healthcare professionals with the state of the art skills necessary to tackle some of the most difficult and critical tasks regarding the assessment of suicide risk. Shawn Shea, MD, is an internationally acclaimed workshop leader and educational innovator in the fields of suicide prevention, resiliency, clinical interviewing, and improving medication adherence, having given over 850 presentations worldwide. He has been a recipient of an Outstanding Course Award presented by the American Psychiatric Association for his presentations at their annual meetings and is a frequent presenter at the annual meeting of the American Association of Suicidology. Dr. Shea is the author of six books and numerous articles, including one of the classic texts in the field of suicide prevention.

In this training, Dr. Shea describes an innovative interviewing strategy for eliciting suicidal ideation, behaviors, and intent—the Chronological Assessment of Suicide Events (the CASE Approach). The workshop starts with a focus on the seven practical validity techniques, which form the cornerstones for effectively eliciting suicidal ideation: normalization, shame attenuation, the behavioral incident, gentle assumption, denial of the specific, the catch-all question, and symptom amplification. Dr. Shea demonstrates how these interviewing techniques can provide powerful gateways for uncovering the types of sensitive and taboo topics that may lead to suicidal thoughts including physical abuse, drug abuse, antisocial behavior, and incest.

The workshop concludes with numerous demonstrations of how these validity techniques can be woven into a specific strategy to uncover suicidal ideation, behaviors, and intent using the CASE Approach. All interviewing techniques will be clearly demonstrated through active learning and the use of videotape examples from actual patient interviews. Advance purchase of Dr. Shea’s book, The Practical Art of Suicide Assessment, is available through CPNP with a book signing offered by Dr. Shea at the Annual Meeting.

KEYNOTE ADDRESSES

The Medication Interest Model (MIM): Innovative Interviewing Techniques for Improving Medication Adherence
Shawn Shea, MD, Director of the Training Institute for Suicide Assessment and Clinical Interviewing, Stoddard, NH

Monday, April 22, 9:00–10:30 AM

In this session, Dr. Shea addresses the crucial topic of building alliances with patients. An internationally acclaimed workshop leader and educational innovator in the fields of suicide prevention, resiliency, clinical interviewing, and improving medication adherence, Dr. Shea brings to life the practical interviewing techniques of the Medication Interest Model (MIM). Specific interviewing techniques, choice of words, and strategies are demonstrated in detail in a fast-paced, lively and compelling style. Advance purchase of Dr. Shea’s book, Improving Medication Adherence: How to Talk with Patients About their Medications, is available through CPNP with a book signing offered by Dr. Shea at the Annual Meeting.

What Pharmacists Should Know About Newer Synthetic Drugs of Abuse
H. Westley Clark, MD, JD, MP, CAS, FASAM, Director, Center for Substance Abuse Treatment (CSAT), Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMSHA), Rockville, MD

Tuesday, April 23, 9:00–10:00 AM

Newer synthetic drugs of abuse are commonly used, and are readily available at gas stations, head shops, or online. These drugs have clinical consequences, some of which can be life-threatening. Dr. Clark will discuss the pharmacological aspects of newer synthetic drugs of abuse, the clinical effects and medical management of exposure to these drugs, and the role that pharmacists can play in synthetic drug use prevention and awareness efforts with emphasis on effective/ineffective strategies in counseling youths.

Rewriting the Psychiatric Bible: the DSM-5 and its Implications
Abraham Nussbaum, MD, MTS, Director of the Adult Inpatient Psychiatry Service, Denver Health, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry, University of Colorado, Denver, CO

Tuesday, April 23, 10:15–11:15 AM

The fifth edition of the American Psychiatric Association’s Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, the DSM-5, will be published in May 2013. The authors of the DSM-5 have revised and reorganized the entire manual. For example, child and adolescent disorders now live with their adult counterparts, dementia has been replaced by neurocognitive disorder, and the subtypes of schizophrenia have been eliminated. In this session, Dr. Nussbaum reviews the history of the DSM, the changes within the DSM-5, and their implications for research and clinical practice.

Transforming 300 Billion Points of Data into Diagnostics, Therapeutics, and New Insights into Disease
Atul Butte, MD, PhD, Chief of the Division of Systems Medicine and Associate Professor of Pediatrics, Stanford University and Lucile Packard Children's Hospital, Stanford, CA

Wednesday, April 24, 10:00–11:00 AM

With a decrease in overall research dollars and completion of the Human Genome Project, there is a need to translate genome-era discoveries into clinical utility. The difficulties in making bench-to-bedside translations have been well described. The nascent field of translational bioinformatics may help. Dr. Butte leads a lab that builds and applies tools converting more than 300 billion points of molecular, clinical, and epidemiological data measured by researchers and clinicians over the past decade, into diagnostics, therapeutics, and new insights into disease. In this session, Butte highlights his lab’s work on using publicly-available molecular measurements to find new uses for drugs, and in evaluating patients presenting with an entire sequence of genome.

OF TWO MINDS Documentary Screening
Offered by the College of Psychiatric and Neurologic Pharmacists Foundation (CPNPF)

Tuesday, April 23, 2013, 7:30-9:30 PM

OF TWO MINDS is an award-winning, feature documentary directed by Lisa Klein and Doug Blush. Filmed over three years, OF TWO MINDS weaves together stories from across America of the incredible highs and devastating lows of bipolar disorder. This is not a medical primer or tabloid scandal expose, but rather a flesh and blood look at how remarkable people deal with the symptoms, stigmas and unique insights that come out of living with bipolar disorder. Attendees have the opportunity to interact with one of the filmmakers. Separate registration is required on your registration form.
